PURPOSE

Use this coaching worksheet to decide whether to double down, adjust or abandon a niche. Leave with a quarterly niche decision memo that can be tested in real, buyer-respectful work.

WHY THIS MATTERS

Start with client interviews, sales performance data and coach discovery notes. Watch for changing direction after one slow week. Review niche-qualified pipeline trend as a learning signal, not a promised result.

QUICK REFLECTION

Which dimension is the best starting point for this focus: decide whether to double down, adjust or abandon a niche?

DEEP WORK I

Quarterly Niche Review

Use actual evidence. Separate what happened from what you assume it means.

01 / CURRENT PICTURE

01 Review client interviews, sales performance data and coach discovery notes. What observed moment shows the need to decide whether to double down, adjust or abandon a niche?

02 What did the buyer, seller or sponsor actually say or do? Record one concrete example.

02 / THE LEVER

03 When you try to decide whether to double down, adjust or abandon a niche, which step breaks down first, and in what context?

04 What assumption are you making that the evidence does not yet support? How could you check it?

03 / PRACTICE & TEST

05 Coach question: What evidence is strong enough to change your focus?

06 How could you replace changing direction after one slow week with a fair, specific and testable move?

DEEP WORK II + WORKSHEET

Quarterly Niche Review

Build a usable artifact, then pressure-test it with a real-world scenario.

07 What must a quarterly niche decision memo contain to help the user decide whether to double down, adjust or abandon a niche? Name the first two decisions it supports.

08 Where might changing direction after one slow week show up? How will you notice it and adjust before a client or buyer is affected?
